

A Vision for 2020 to remain a driving force

Have I ever mentioned that ActofGraceRadio.net views the internet as an incredible tool that will virtually go into all the world to a predicted 2 billion users in the very near future? Yeah, I suppose I have.

Last month several more positive connections were made into inviting others to participate with AGR in producing their own "radio-style" talk programs to be included on an eventual world wide, 24/7, streaming audio outreach. It hasn't been unusual, like most of my other vision casting endeavors, to be met with the blank stare and quizzical quip, "What in heavens name are you talking about?"

So I'm asking here on this first day of the New Year, that you give me a few moments each month as, within this newsletter, I'll try and go into deeper detail about what ActofGraceRadio.net feels led to achieve and how God is making it happen to His own glory. It's sure been a fun ride so far.

Step Two – To better deliver the goods online

Gena and I are quickly finding out that this little child of ours is getting to be more than we can handle. And in order to keep up with my dreaming and scheming, we've had to admit that we're going to need more help.

Where that will come from, however, still remains a mystery. We're definitely in need of an oversight board with the gifts and talents that will spur us forward, plus other someones with the technical savvy to translate my visions into compatible computer coding – or whatever it's going to take to not just get us up to speed but keep us moving forward. Will you pray for us?

"@ The Rock Shop" to examine the End Times

The fulfilled prophecies of the Bible is a clear indication of the unique and supernatural nature of the book. As God has ever been true to His word, one of the topics "@ the Rock Shop" will be exploring in the coming weeks is what the Bible has to say about what's ahead. This has long been an issue that intrigues new believers and non-believers alike, and that's precisely the listener AGR is targeting. I'm thinking there should be enough material to present on this subject to carry us through Easter.

Naturally, don't think I'd leave you out on this. Tune in and hear how I do it.

"Grandpa, why do I have to be quiet in church?"
"Because people are sleeping, dear."

Etc., etcetera, &ct.

It's never been my intent to use this forum as a means to whine and snivel about how challenging it is to stay faithfully focused in service to the Lord...particularly in an outreach that is intended to pioneer new ground. (It is hard, by the way.)

I imagine you to have a good many similar struggles that just come with the territory of seeking to be a fully devoted follower of Jesus Christ. Please, never hesitate to contact us if we can be of help in any way. Me, I like using email the best, so try miker@actofgraceradio.net.

Is it 2008 Already?

What does the Lord have planned for His bride over the next twelve months? At AGR we're expecting to see great things. And each week to put together a program about it.

What the Bible sez:

"The LORD said to me in the strongest terms: 'Do not think like everyone else does. Do not be afraid that some plan conceived behind closed doors will be the end of you. Do not fear anything except the LORD Almighty. He alone is the Holy One. If you fear Him, you need fear nothing else. He will keep you safe.'
Isaiah 8:11-14a (NLT)

I suppose it makes sense that Isaiah, along with most all the other prophets God sent to His chosen people, weren't lovingly embraced. For one, I'm not all that inclined to want to listen to unpleasant critiques on the way I've behaved.

At the advent of this New Year, many of us, with all good intent, are hoping to somehow start afresh and find a way to get things back on track that may have gotten waylaid some time last year. And the Bible regularly instructs us to not be afraid and not to worry and that it is imperative that we "not think like everyone else does."

Romans 12:1,2 were inspiring verses for me last year. And I trust might be a good starting place for you in 2008.
